FIVE AND THREE-EIGHTHS PER CENT

COMPOUND INTEREST

—AND—

SECURITY UNQUESTIONABLE!

From the San Francisco Journal of Commerce

A GOOD INVESTMENT,

Better than Money in a Bank.

In new and growing communities money commands a high interest but as a section becomes settled and capital accumulates, rates of interest fall. The savings banks of San Francisco paid 12 per cent. interest in 1855, while now they pay only 3 to 4 percent. which in about the same as Eastern rates. Heavy losses have taught our people the folly of mining stock speculation, and the present low rate of interest at the banks has caused prudent men to look about for some investment which shall be both safe and, at the same time profitable. One of the best ways of solving the problem is offered by the endowment plan of the North-western Mutual Life Insurance Company. We can best show this by giving a practical example from the books of the company.

Policy No 30,777, ten premium thirteen year endowment, issued at age of 22, February 1, 1868, for $1,000, annual premium $85 50, on the life of Nicholas Dabinden, Milwaukee.

Mr. Dabinden received 5½ per cent. compound interest on his investment in a policy of the Northwestern Mutual Life, besides being insured for $1 000 and upward in case of his death and furthermore, his money was as safe as if it had been in the best savings bank. Where can one find a better investment? The semi-tontine policies combine all the best features of sound life insurance.

It is the deliberate judgment of very many of the best business men of the country that the non-forfeiting semi tontine of The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company is the best thing in the way of life insurance ever offered to the public.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

The First Day's Proceedings at Chicago.

SOME STIRRING SPEECHES MADE.

Mrs Parnell and Michael Davitt Received With Unbounded Enthusiasm—John Fitzgerald of Nebraska Named for President

CHICAGO Aug 18.—The scenes about the lobbies of the leading down town hotels this forenoon were not unlike those preceding the national convention. The delegates to the Irish national league present in the city number about 1400 and when not engaged in obtaining their credentials to admit them to the floor of the convention hall and in obtaining tickets of admission for their friends were actively canvassing in behalf of their favorite leaders for the presidency.

Dr O'Reilly treasurer of the league arrived this morning and assisted by the secretary began to pass upon the credentials of delegates. He completed his labors shortly after 10 o'clock in time for the opening of the convention at 11 o'clock the hour named by the national committee. The four Irish members of parliament here will be made members of the committee on resolutions and given seats in the convention so that the platform adopted may be in harmony with Parnell's views.

It was after 11 o'clock before the convention had been assembled and called to order. The number present is estimated at not least 4000. Tremendous cheering greeted the arrival of Michael Davitt and Mrs. Parnell.

President Egan in opening the convention said it would be honored by the presence and aided by the council of the man who above others not even excepting our great leader himself holds the warmest place in the hearts of all Irishmen—the honest and fearless Michael Davitt. He congratulated the convention on the fact that since the Boston convention the infamous crimes act had been abolished. He said that three successive governments had been overthrown in England within twelve months on the Irish question. Coercion as a system he believed was dead. England must recognize that the dissensions would be lost until peace reigned in Ireland and there could be no peace with the Irish race until it had obtained home rule. The great movement toward that end was due largely to the agency of the Irish national league of America which since the Boston convention had forwarded to the trustees of the parliamentary fund $300,000. He said the convention should preserve caution that no word or facts should compromise those beyond the water that it should be cautious without cowardice and a determination such as is shown by American liberty to win back their plundered rights at all hazards. Egan's speech evoked great cheering at its close.

At the conclusion of Egan's address he nominated on behalf of the national committee Judge Fitzgerald, of Cincinnati for temporary chairman and he was chosen without a dissenting vote.

A BEAUTIFUL SCENE

CHICAGO Aug 18.—The scene presented in Central music hall shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon was in many respects an extraordinarily beautiful one. The auditorium was crowded to its utmost capacity delegates occupying the lobby and seats on the lower floor while the boxes and galleries were crowded with ladies. There was a tremendous outburst of applause on the entry of Michael Davitt and again wild cheering when the presence of Mrs Parnell was recognized. The entire audience rose to their feet like one man and cheered themselves hoarse when Michael Davitt leaning on the arm of Patrick Egan and followed by the remaining Irish delegates and other officers of the national league entered the hall. The visitors and officers made their way to the stage amid shouts and plaudits and their first move was spontaneously toward Mrs. Parnell. Davitt and others warmly shook her by the hand while the cheering of the American delegates and the audience seemed to know no bounds.

The stage was occupied exclusively by officers of the league. As President Egan arose another wild outburst of cheering rose from the convention to be renewed again and again as the first words from his lips were an enthusiastic reference to Michael Davitt. Before President Egan had spoken half a dozen sentences the lobbies were crowded with delegates and spectators. The applause during Egan's address was so frequent that it seemed to break forth at the end of almost every sentence. Mentions of Gladstone were enthusiastically received but when near the close of the address came the phrase [illegible] the galleries and roofs [illegible] shake.

Three cheers for Washington, Gladstone and Parnell were given at the close of Egan's address.

Then Secretary Sutton read the call for the convention.

A telegram from the democratic state convention of Michigan, [illegible] in session, wishing the league and Parnell God speed, elicited further signs of warm approval.

President Egan arose at this point and announced that at the meeting of the national committee last night Judge Fitzgerald of Cincinnati had been selected for temporary chairman of the convention and John P. Sutton for temporary secretary. Fitzgerald's name seemed to act magnetically upon the delegates and it certainly [illegible] when Egan put the question [illegible] delegates made a motion [illegible] and Fitzgerald and Sutton were declared unanimously elected.

JUDGE FITZGERALD'S SPEECH

Judge Fitzgerald upon taking the chair spoke as follows:

Ladies and Brother Delegates:—A dispatch in the morning papers indicate great hopes on the part of Salisbury and the vagabond [illegible] of Orange men who are armed of their own country and are indulging in high hopes that this convention of Irish hearts and Irishmen will commit political suicide and disgrace themselves. (Cries of No, no.) On the other hand comes flashing over 4000 miles from across the sea words of trembling fear and anxiety from those that live in old Ireland (cheers), fear and anxiety from those we left in our childhood, fear and anxiety from the country whose name and whose interests we are summoned to day. Fear and anxiety from those whose station in life we desire to make like our own—free men as free as the oceans wild waves. (Cheers.) In proportion as you smash the hopes on the one hand and dispel the fears on the other hand in this same proportion shall we have fulfilled our destiny. You have telegraphic instruments here in your hall. From there let the electric flash pass from here to the Atlantic and across it, with the unanimity that is proverbial for, and let every word that goes from this hall be words of disappointment to the enemies of Ireland. (Cheers.) On the other hand, let your words be words of cheer and consolation to a people that for several centuries has waited for freedom. How many of you are thousands of miles away from your happy homes. You are not with any selfish motives in view, you are not for any personal aggrandizement but the highest and holiest hopes and aspirations that ever inspire human hearts have inspired yours as you left your wives and hearthstones. You came not all by your selves [illegible] but inspired by a love of liberty. You came here as honest patriots loving the land that gave you birth and hating her oppressors. (Cheers.) You came here like free men in the greatest freest country on earth. (Cheers.) You came here to attend with the truest motives that could permeate an assemblage of pure and honest men. You came here as representatives of the Irish national league of America that was organized not to dictate, not to divide, not to suggest a line of policy to those 4000 miles across the Atlantic and for whose happiness and for whose interest we are gathered here to-day. (Cheers.) You came here not to dictate to them but rather to follow in their footsteps. (Cheers.) You came here to day with hearts full of hope for the future. We cannot forget the past if we would and we would not if we could. (Cheers.) But while that is a fact we look to the future with hope that the Irish race throughout the world is concentrated on Charles Stewart Parnell. (Cheers.) You came here to day to welcome by your cheers and approve by your actions the honored representatives of the Irish parliamentary party and Charles Stewart Parnell. Parnell has sent you good news and glad tidings by his trusty lieutenants who are now before you. (Applause.) You stand up and with one voice utter words [illegible] the sentiments which [illegible] hearts in cheer after cheer to the chosen representatives of the Irish people who are [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] spirit. (Cheers.) His [illegible] represents [illegible] [illegible] there are [illegible] say and let [illegible] to day [illegible] no doubt [illegible] day or two that you have been [illegible] read in the public press suggestions of a terrible fight and dissension in this convention. Old man, [illegible] him, [illegible] the enemies of [illegible] and the [illegible] free government [illegible] would [illegible] prophecy if continued.

Turning to Michael Davitt the speaker proceeded: "We are here to day to welcome you not [illegible] Michael Davitt but because you are [illegible] representatives of Irish. (Applause.) [illegible] the other members of the parliamentary [illegible] Redmond and Deasy the [illegible] old tactics of [illegible] [illegible] Divide and [illegible] among true Irishmen at home and abroad there is no division of sentiment on this question of home rule for Ireland and absolute control of their affairs by themselves. (Loud and continued applause.) And Messrs O'Brien, Redmond and Deasy, (Applause.) we are here to day to give you the same generous welcome as we do the hero and founder of the league not in your individual capacity but as representatives of the Irish people who in that [illegible] land day by day and night by night and month by month, were laboring for your own and the land we love. We want you [illegible] and doubly [illegible] will tell us what the desires, what the wishes, what the hopes and aspirations of the Irish people are. You will doubtless tell us what you request of us to-day and on behalf of those who are now before me and on behalf of those they represent throughout this broad land from the high hills of Maine to the golden slope of California—on behalf of the generous American people who are with us in sentiment and in heart—I promise you sirs, that from this convention there shall emanate but one sentiment but one action, but one echo and that is for Ireland for her chosen representatives to follow in your wake not to direct not to dictate not to suggest, but for the Irish national league to cripple you and Charles Stewart Parnell the same as we have been crippling you for the past two years. (Loud applause.)

My friends you have heard me in your name make promises. In the name of the land that gave most of you birth, in the name of the land where many of you first beheld the light of heaven and of liberty, that God given right of that people as well as that of all others in the name of Charles Stewart Parnell (applause) I beg of you, I entreat you by every act of yours to see that these promises I have just made are religiously and rigorously fulfilled. (Applause.) If there are any in your great big city that have grievances let them be settled. Every delegate having a right to enter this hall shall have a seat in this convention. If I have my say every delegate has a right to express his opinions honestly, cordially and patriotically upon all issues at stake connected with the convention. I [illegible] of you to be sober and earnest [illegible] be forbearing with one another [illegible] brother that you do [illegible] the mission of any [illegible] [illegible] before us to look back [illegible] two months and take an example worthy [illegible] first from the parliamentary bands of brothers that sat there in that [illegible] day after day and night after night to the most vicious violent and [illegible] that could emanate from heart or be given expression by the mouth of man. How did they [illegible] in that critical moment? Did they jump up and in an irritable manner drive back the larder by vituperation? No. They [illegible] under a discipline not equaled [illegible] legislative body in ancient or modern times. Applause. And what in addition convey to the people that were looking with anxiety for the work of their representatives? The history of the world fails to point to a grander picture. It fails to point to a greater [illegible] the reckless band of tyrants who in these moments full of bitter design were cool and self possessed. Who under the most critical and trying ordeal are calm and dispassionate witnesses with their hopes in heaven and the faith of their representatives? On take lesson from that [illegible] patriots that race which within the last few months has shown to the world a capacity for self government an abstemiousness from strife and vituperation—notwithstanding the amount of vituperation that was given against them. It is shown to the world a capacity for self government not equaled by any other race on earth under like circumstances. Irishmen with Irish blood in their veins sit down on every attempted dissension in this hall. Be men be forbearing be united and say unequivocally here that no matter what we may think of one policy or another we have no policy here to discuss or act upon except the policy persisted in by Davitt and by the representatives of the parliamentary party, who are the mouthpieces of Charles Stewart Parnell. (Applause.)

At the conclusion of Judge Fitzgerald's address Alexander Sullivan took his place in about the center of the convention arose and offered the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the delegates from each state and territory from the district of Columbia and from Canada caucus and they are hereby instructed to report to the convention as soon as practicable a representative on each of the following committees: Credentials, resolutions, finances, constitution and permanent organization.

Resolved, That the Hon Wm O'Brien, Hon George Redmond M P, Hon John Deasy M P, and the father of the Irish land league, Michael Davitt are hereby appointed members of the committee on resolutions as representatives of Ireland.

The purpose of the appointment of our brothers from Ireland is two fold. First that their counsel may make it impossible to give expression to a word which could embarrass the Irish leaders; second that the world may behold the perfect unity of the Irish and the Irish American sentiment.

The resolutions were seconded by Father O'Brien of Toledo and unanimously adopted.

Thomas Kelly of Minnesota moved as a substitute for the [illegible] the appointment of a committee on credentials each delegation to at once decide on its own representatives and then the convention to adjourn till 8 P M. The previous question was ordered and the substitute adopted unanimously. All the [illegible] states were instructed to [illegible] [illegible] at the [illegible] of numbers [illegible] various committees [illegible] selected.

The convention was then declared adjourned till 8 P M.

At 8 o'clock half an hour after the time set for the beginning of the night session the committee on credentials were still in session at the Grand Pacific, the with closed doors and the proceedings in Central Music hall had not yet commenced. At 8:40 the hall was filled to overflowing and as Judge Fitzgerald let fall the gavel a hush came over the convention while the tall form of Michael Davitt was seen making his way to the stage. Davitt was called upon almost as soon as he entered the hall and despite his protest the audience rose to their feet and cheering wildly he rose to say that he had been heard often and that he would simply introduce his friend Mr. O'Brien editor of United Ireland. Davitt spoke of O'Brien as a most [illegible] patriot. "I know you will be delighted to hear from this friend of Ireland, Wm O'Brien."

In the course of his speech O'Brien said: "This day's proceedings have this morning shown they did not exaggerate your patriotism and self sacrifice to the cause of Ireland. I thank you again and again [illegible] by the Irish national [illegible] of America but has happened to day and [illegible] for the years of labor and noble and generous work in the cause of Ireland accomplished by you. I thank you [illegible] [illegible] of our [illegible] [illegible] we are here as embassadors of Ireland and of Charles Stewart Parnell. (Cheers.) It is hardly necessary for me to tell you that whatever favor is extended to us in this hall and during our short visit to this country we will accept it not as tendered for our personal selves but intended for the leader of our cause under whose banner it is our pride and privilege to carry a musket in the ranks." (Cheers.)

After Mr O'Brien had concluded the committees were reported with the exception of the committee on credentials and the convention adjourned till to morrow at 10 A M.

COMMITTEE WORK

The committee on resolutions was subdivided into several committees. The report of the committee will be unanimous and will be the shortest declaration ever made by a league convention. The resolutions will endorse Parnell and his party and pledge future support to whatever extent necessary, express appreciation of the forbearance of the Irish people under the most annoying and oppressive treatment of the rack renting landlord system and the partisan judicial administration which exists especially in the north of Ireland. Acknowledge the efforts of Gladstone and the tendency of Great Britain to certain issues calculated to bring about reconciliation between the peoples which so long been kept in hostility by misgovernment in Ireland has the inalienable right of self government; acknowledge the obligations of the Irish race to the American press and people and express the warmest gratitude to the retiring league officials, President Egan and Treasurer O'Reilly.

A number of the present officers of the league had a conference to night with other prominent members of the convention. They discussed Judge Fitzgerald as the presiding officer and referred to his speech of the afternoon as a most masterly effort and as likely to keep down even an appearance of strife. It seemed to be the universal opinion that he should be retained as the permanent presiding officer.

FOR PRESIDENT OF THE LEAGUE

Mr Egan was offered the aid of every man present if he would consent to serve as president of the league. He thanked them very much but positively declined. He remarked that his friend John Fitzgerald of Nebraska would fill the office in a most acceptable manner.

The result of the conference was a notice to John Fitzgerald to be ready if called upon to make an address to the convention. Fitzgerald of Nebraska is said to be the richest man in the league. He is worth about $5 000,000 is president of three National banks and the largest railroad contractor in the west. He is not polished in manner as are many of the finest leaders of the league but is regarded as a business man of an ability far above the average.

ACCIDENTS

AN OIL TRAIN BURNED

[illegible] Aug 18.—While a train consisting of twenty four cars was descending a grade on the [illegible] Central railway below White House station [illegible] this morning the cars parted by the breaking of a coupling and a few minutes later the separate parts collided. The concussion made by the collision caused one of the tanks to explode and immediately afterward 10 more exploded. Eleven cars were scattered along the track and all were soon ablaze. The explosion followed one another until the oil in all the tanks. It is estimated that 100 000 gallons were burned, illuminating the country for miles around. The loss will not fall short of $40 000. After the first explosion the fore part of the train was removed from the wreck, the engines started with them to the [illegible] when the last car in the [illegible] caught fire and the tank exploded and it was completely destroyed. The cause seems a mystery. All the tanks (thirteen) that exploded were burned beyond repair.

PACIFIC COAST.

The Washington Territory Democratic Convention.

MR VOORHEES RENOMINATED

Seizure of Fishing Vessels in Behring's Sea—The Nebraska Editors—Geronimo's Capture Probable—Coast Notes.

TACOMA Aug 18.—The convention was called to order at 10 by J A Kuhn chairman of the central committee. Temporary organization was effected by the election of James B Fadoux of Cowlitz, chairman, and J R Rutherford secretary. Committees on credentials order of business and permanent organization were appointed. The attendance is full from all parts of the territory. Voorhees will certainly be nominated on the first ballot by a large majority if not by acclamation. The platform foreshadowed will be for forfeiture anti Chinese and labor. Temperance will probably be ignored. The convention took a recess to 1 30.

AN ORGANIZATION EFFECTED

TACOMA Aug 18.—The convention this afternoon organized by the election of J B Metcalf of Seattle as permanent chairman. He complimented Voorhees for his gallant victory two years ago and said the party was now abreast of live progressive issues. He comes before the people with no broken promises. Two grave questions are presented for determination by the party this time. The great question of the criminal waste of public lands by the republican party hurled it from power two years ago. The issue is the same now as then. He likened the republican robbery to the Norman invasion parceling to barons the land of the old [illegible]. The colossal corporations were modern barons. The other question was labor reform. The mutterings of discontent throughout the land has been intensified on the Pacific coast by the presence of Chinese and labor looked to the democracy for relief. The speech was frequently and enthusiastically applauded.

The committee on platform went out at 3 and asked time to report at 7 30.

THE PLATFORM

First—That we endorse the administration of President Cleveland.

Second—Same as the old platform. Public lands, heritage etc. excepting paragraph about [illegible] [illegible] Wallula and the Cascade branch and beginning again at "Titles of settlers" etc.

Third—We believe the control of large areas of land by individuals or corporations is wrong in principle and prejudicial and dangerous to the public welfare.

Fourth—Same as the old platform regulating freights and fare.

Fifth—Same as the old about passes etc.

Sixth—Same as the old, condemning the policy of the Northern Pacific in charging through freights and way freights back.

Seventh—Same as the old denouncing the Northern Pacific for controlling the politics of the territory.

Eighth—We favor the annexation of the Pan handle of Idaho and demand the immediate admission of Washington territory into the Union of states under the name of Washington, on terms of equality with all other states.

Ninth—We are in favor of liberal appropriations for the improvement of all the navigable rivers and waters of this territory. We are opposed to the selection of non residents to fill the federal offices within the territory and the highest interests of the people of Eastern Washington demands the early completion of the Cascade locks and removal of other obstructions from the Columbia river, and we favor adequate appropriations by congress for that purpose and we pledge the earnest efforts of our delegate to secure that end.

Tenth—That we are in favor of such a change in existing laws as will fully protect the lives rights and property of miners.

Eleventh—The presence in our midst of an alien, heathen, servile and non assimilating class that contributes nothing to the machinery for civil social or moral progress and whose employment operates as a constant withdrawal of the means necessary for the development of intelligent and prosperous citizenship, and the proper attraction and maintenance of the families of citizens is a standing menace to the perpetuity of our institutions and an invitation to social disorder in an attempt to rectify conditions felt to be unwelcome. High considerations for the permanent health of the social structure demand the immediate repeal of the Burlingame treaty that unfortunate and ill advised measure of the [illegible] and the careful revision and rigid enforcement of the restriction act that we are in favor of unceasing persistent and determined agitation on the subject of Mongolian immigration to this country until the federal government is induced by public opinion to so amend our treaties with the Chinese empire as to prohibit it and thus save those of our fellow citizens who depend upon labor for support from unjust and degrading competition.

Twelfth—We demand the immediate and unconditional repeal of the gross earnings tax law enacted in 1883 and denounce the republican legislation of 1885 for the violation of its pledged faith to the people in its failure to repeal the said law and for its subserviency to the corrupt influences in interested corporations. We insist that the property of corporations shall be taxed by the same law as that of individuals, and that the rich and poor shall bear the burdens of government in proportion to the valuation of the property owned or controlled by each.

Thirteenth—That we are in favor of the enactment of a law by the United States congress directing the secretary of the interior through the machinery of the land department, to issue patents to all bona fide purchasers holding a deed to land from the Northern Pacific Railroad company conveying all the rights and interests which may now be vested in the government to the holder of such lands.

Fourteenth.—We commend the constancy of the Hon. Charles S Voorhees our delegate in congress to the principles of the platform on which he was elected his loyalty to the interests of our territory and his earnestness and [illegible] serving the interests.

The platform was adopted unanimously without debate.

After the adoption of the platform the following resolution was presented and adopted:

Resolved, That we view with alarm the danger of the precedent set by the executive of our territory in the proclamation of martial law in the city of Seattle last February that said proclamation was unwarranted by law and was a usurpation of power that should be gravely censured by every law abiding and order loving citizen of the territory.

VOORHEES RENOMINATED

Odell of Whitman in a stirring speech placed in nomination Hon Chas S Voorhees. The nomination was seconded by delegates from nearly every county in the territory. Charles Henry was also placed in nomination. The call of counties resulted in following vote: Henry 11, Voorhees 140. Before the vote was announced King county changed four votes making the result: Henry 10, Voorhees 144. A committee brought in Voorhees who was greeted with immense applause. He reviewed the beneficial legislation since his election, the admission bill which had passed the senate, the annexation bill which had passed the house and a bill confirming authority to tax railway lands. He denounced in strong terms the existing gross earnings law. The reference in the platform to Chinese restriction met his hearty concurrence. He was in favor of a white man's civilization on this coast.

The convention adjourned at 11 with the fullest representation of delegates ever assembled in the territory, who pledged a solid party support and a vigorous campaign.

Voorhees goes to Colfax and will open the campaign from that point.

CALIFORNIA

A LITTLE RETALIATION

SAN FRANCISCO Aug 18.—The steamer St Paul which arrived to day from Ounalaska Alaska brings the news of the seizure on August 1 of three British schooners by the United States revenue cutter Corwin for violation of the seal fishing laws in Behring's sea. The names of the schooners are the Thornton, Onward and Caroline. The crews of the seized vessels were sent to Sitka from where [illegible] [illegible] brought here by the St Paul. [illegible] were taken to Ounalaska but the officers were kept on board the Corwin. The captains of the captured schooners claim that they were fishing on the high seas and that their vessels were fitted out at Victoria B C and carried British flags. On the other hand it is stated that they were killing seals several hundred miles within the limits of the Russian cession to the United States. The matter has been referred to the British consul in this city for investigation.

HISTORY OF THE TROUBLE

The history of the trouble may be briefly stated as follows: The law under which the Alaska Commercial company holds its lease from the United States and for which lease it pays $350 000 a year provides that the seals shall be killed upon the islands of St George and St Paul the summer resort of seals and by the company. For some time the company was subjected to annoyance and loss by the depredations of marauders upon the islands. Latterly however [illegible] crews [illegible] been stopped by the depredators. They [illegible] at Victoria take on board Indian marksmen and go out fishing where they lie in wait for the seals as they come up in the straits between the numerous Aleutian islands and [illegible] in the water in large numbers. The revenue cutter Corwin, Capt. Abbey in command and cruising in Behring sea under orders to protect the seal fisheries, and about July 1 overhauled the American schooner San Diego and found on board of her the skins of 500 seals slaughtered in the above mentioned manner. The officers and crew were arrested and the vessel was [illegible]. [illegible] Corwin came upon three British schooners the Thornton (steam), Onward and Caroline, [illegible] the very act of killing seals in the water and seized them finding in them 1500 skins. What good the British flag will do them remains to be seen, but it is doubtful if it will do them much, if the United States stands upon the ground it has distinctly taken upon the ownership of Behring's sea. The question was first raised in 1881, when a letter was written from San Francisco to the treasury department asking whether the law concerning the United States ownership of Behring's sea extended to the whole sea. The reply was that the department so construed it and referred the writer to the line of Russian cession.

In March last Collector Hagar wrote again upon the subject and received the following decisive reply: "The law prohibits the killing of any fur bearing animals except as otherwise therein provided within the limits of Alaska territory or in the waters thereof and also prohibits the killing of any fur seals on the islands of St Paul and St George or in the waters adjacent thereto except during certain months. You inquire in regard to the interpretation of the terms 'waters thereof' and 'waters adjacent thereto' as used in the law and how far the jurisdiction of the United States is to be understood as extending. Presuming your inquiry to relate more especially to the waters of Western Alaska you are informed that the treaty with Russia of March 30 1867 by which the territory of Alaska was ceded to the United States, defines the boundary of the territory so ceded. The limit of the cession extends from a line starting from the Arctic ocean and running through Behring straits to north of the St Lawrence islands. The line runs thence in a southwesterly direction so as to pass midway between the island of Attu and Copper island of the Kormandorski couplet or group of the North Pacific ocean to the meridian of 193 degrees west longitude. All the waters within that boundary to the western end of the of the Aleutian archipelago and chain of islands are considered as comprised within the waters of Alaska territory. All the penalties prescribed by law against the killing of fur bearing animals would therefore attach against any violation of the law within the limits prescribed."

The above was signed by acting secretary H. T. French.

Two important questions are involved in this matter. One is of the international character regarding the rights of foreign vessels to fish in the waters of Behring sea which are claimed to have been ceded to the United States by Russia. The other question relates to the right of any vessel to kill seals in Behring sea in alleged violation of the terms of the Alaska Commercial company's lease. The outcome of both questions will be watched with great interest here.

Previous to leaving Ounalaska, the government agent of the Alaska commercial company who arrived on board the St Paul had an interview with the captains of the four prizes and in a conversation stated what then took place. "I saw the captains before I left. The American captain of the San Diego had very little to say but the British captains had a great deal. They said that they were illegally arrested and their vessels illegally seized as the lord chancellor of England had in a legal decision pronounced that the Behring sea where the seizures took place was a high sea and could not be the property of any state or individual. They said that they had been advised of this decision and had acted under it."

GERONIMO'S ATTITUDE [illegible]

HUACHUCA, Aug 18.—Antonio Gonzales a Mexican employed by the government to carry dispatches to Capt Lawton and who left here August 4 returned today. He reports that on his way back when nine miles south of Fronteras he was met by Geronimo, Natchez and three Mexicans who mistook him for a resident of Mexico. In a conversation which took place he learned that Geronimo was on his way to Fronteras to try and make terms of peace with the Mexican authorities in order that Sonora might be a base of operations for raiding into New Mexico and Arizona. A later dispatch received by telegraph signals states that Geronimo and band of forty Indians are at Fronteras seeking to make peace with the Mexican authorities. Gen. Miles has ordered Lieut Wilder with two troops of cavalry to proceed to the front and demand that Geronimo unconditionally surrender and that Lockett with his command of Pima Indians follows to occupy such positions in the mountains as will prevent a possibility of Geronimo's escape.

UTAH

THE NEBRASKA EDITORS

SALT LAKE Aug 18.—The Nebraska Editorial association arrived here at noon from San Francisco numbering sixty ladies and gentlemen. They were met at Ogden and escorted to Salt Lake by members of the city council and mayor, also W W Riter superintendent of the Utah Central railway, and other railway officials. This afternoon they visited Garfield Landing and Salt Lake beach generally. Their entire trip to the coast has been one continuous ovation and enjoyment. Their visit to this city has been long looked for with pleasure. Their last stop was at Sacramento where the legislature was in special session but adjourned to honor the Nebraska editors after which they were driven about the city escorted by the governor mayor and council and they were loaded with a sumptuous wine supper tendered by the Pioneers association. The party leaves Salt Lake to morrow for Manitou. The stop there two days after they will visit Denver and vicinity spending several days in the mountains and then return home.

A DENIAL BY GEN SWEITZER

WALLA WALLA Aug 18.—Gen Sweitzer emphatically denies the report in the St Paul Globe's Washington special that he has recommended the abandonment of Fort Walla Walla and concentration of the troops at Coeur d'Alene. He says he never contemplated such a proceeding.

ENGLAND

O'CONNOR'S VIEWS ON THE RECALL

NEW YORK Aug 18.—T P O'Connor cabled from London to the Star: The recall of the British commission for delimitation of the Afghan frontier is a sharp tory reminder that there are other questions pressing for solution outside of Ireland. The reason assigned by the government organs for the recall is that the question that has arisen cannot be satisfactorily settled on the spot. Lord Salisbury desires to consult Col Ridgeway as to the maps and strategical importance of the district claimed by Russia. The situation is delicate and may easily lead to war between Russia and Afghanistan involving England. The incident displays the fresh folly of Lord Iddesleigh's appointment to the foreign office. He is utterly incompetent to carry on negotiations on affairs of first class importance possibly leading to war and Lord Salisbury has been compelled to take charge of the matter. The effect of the sensation is to divert attention to a certain extent from home to foreign matters, and to place the latter in the front rank.

THE TORIES GREATLY STRENGTHENED

NEW YORK Aug 18.—The Star's London special says: Anticipatory reports of the Chicago convention cabled here represent the decision of the convention as a foregone conclusion against the settlement of the Irish question short of complete separation. These reports have already done damage to home rule prospects in England and Scotland as shown by telegrams from all points that have [illegible] strengthened the tories [illegible] [illegible] speech cabled here are now coming in [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the tories and unionists [illegible] [illegible] altogether.

GENERAL NEWS.

Proceedings of Democratic State Conventions.

BLAINE NOT OUT OF POLITICS.

The Complainant in the Cutting Case Wants to Withdraw—Attempted Assassination—Riots in Japan—News Notes.

TOLEDO Aug 18.—The democratic state convention assembled at 10 30 this morning. Hon. C. B Finley of Bucyrus was made permanent chairman. He made a speech congratulating the convention on the return of the democratic supremacy to the country and rehearsing the work done by the present administration. He then made a strong arraignment of the republican legislature, especially the seizure of power in the senate. He anathematized the republican majority of the supreme court as having prostituted their high power to partisan purposes. He made a lengthy review of state matters and was applauded heartily.

At the conclusion of Chairman Finley's speech the committee on [illegible] reported and the report was adopted.

John M Sweeny of W[illegible] then reported the platform as follows:

THE PLATFORM

Congratulates the country that the party of the people has been raised to power and that the promises of its leaders and hopes of its followers are being realized. It expresses sincere sorrow at the loss to the country by the death of Kelly and Tilden, the latter of whom was for many years the leader of the democracy of America and who was honestly and fairly elected the nineteenth president of the United States. It also deeply laments the death of Hendricks, McClellan, Horatio Seymour and Gen. Hancock.

The platform also reaffirms the principles laid down by the national convention on the tariff question and demands a thorough and just revision of the existing tariff laws. The policy of paying out surplus revenues is heartily approved. The platform demands that both gold and silver as established by the constitution shall be maintained as the basis of our money system, and denounces the attempt to change the measure of values from gold and silver to gold alone as an act of monstrous injustice. The action of the democratic house in restoring to the public domain nearly 100 000,000 acres of unearned land granted by republican congresses to railways and the alien land ownership bill is approved.

Resolutions were passed expressing sympathy with Ireland in her great struggle for home rule. The action of the republican members of the Ohio senate is denounced as an usurpation, and belief in the integrity of the democratic members of the state senate is declared. The course of Henry B Payne as U. S. senator is indorsed, and the action of the republican senate of the United States with respect to the charges made against the senator is heartily approved. The resolutions also declare in favor of a well regulated license system for saloons.

The platform was greeted with intense enthusiasm and adopted unanimously with loud cheers.

After two ballots John McBride was nominated for secretary of state. The ticket was then completed and the convention adjourned.

PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

HARRISBURG, Pa. Aug 18.—The democratic state convention was called to order at 10 50 o'clock by M C Herman temporary chairman. After a brief speech from Herman the convention appointed the usual committees and took a recess until 3 o'clock.

HARRISBURG Aug 18.—At the democratic convention to-day Chauncey F Black of New York county was nominated for governor on the first ballot. The platform reaffirms the Chicago national platform, endorses President Cleveland, and laments the recent deaths of Tilden, Hendricks, McClellan, Seymour and Hancock. The following is the tariff resolution in full: "We favor a just and fair revision of the revenue laws in accordance with the letter and spirit of that declaration of democratic principles and in such revision care should be taken that such charges shall be made in a spirit of fairness to all interests without depriving the American laborer of the ability to successfully compete with foreign labor or without imposing lower rates of duty than will be ample to cover any increased cost of production which may exist in consequence of a higher rate of wages prevailing in this country."

Robert Bruce Ricketts was nominated for lieutenant governor, Maxwell Stevenson congressman at large, J Simpson African secretary of internal affairs and W J Brennan auditor. Adjourned.

MISSOURI DEMOCRATS

ST LOUIS Aug 18.—The democratic state convention to nominate a judge of the supreme court and several minor officers met this morning. Ex-Gov. Phelps as chairman made a short address, and was followed by Senator Vest in a somewhat extended speech. The convention then adjourned until to-morrow morning.

MICHIGAN GREENBACKERS

GRAND RAPIDS Aug 18.—The Greenbackers nominated for governor Hon G T Yaple, for state treasurer Wm J Baird, state land commissioner Wm D Fuller, member of the state board of education J W Turner.

THE CUTTING CASE.

The Aggrieved Party Wishes to Withdraw his Suit

DENVER Aug 18.—An El Paso special reports the Cutting case in statu quo. Envoy Sedgwick has not yet arrived. Medina the person who had Cutting incarcerated sent to day the following letter to the El Paso Times:

PASO DEL NORTE Aug 15 1886.

To the Editor of the El Paso Times—Esteemed Sir:—Perhaps abusing the deference with which you offered me the use of your illustrious daily for all matters connected with the Cutting case I again molest your attention with the inclosed copy of the one remitted by me four days ago to the second chamber of the supreme tribunal of Chihuahua, in regard to the civil suit granted me for damages caused by the defamation of which Cutting is guilty. The facts in the trial of Cutting have been [illegible] in such a cruel manner and there have been such unjust criticisms against the acts of the judicial authorities of my country and my humble self by many North American periodicals that I have believed it my duty to direct myself through the columns [illegible] of your paper to your numerous readers to demonstrate the propositions that it is not money that influences the conscience of Mexico when its honor is involved and that it is not sold to a mystified ignoble passion. Hoping you will give publicity to these lines as well as to the accompanying document, in addition to my obligation I have the honor to sign myself as always, E. MEDINA.

The document inclosed as translated reads as follows: "To the honorable the second chamber of the supreme tribunal of state—Emigdio Medina of age and a citizen of this place before you [illegible] and [illegible] declares that, having been [illegible] by the second judge of this locality [illegible] your honorable court [illegible] in person or by attorney should appear to institute the civil action granted me in the trial for defamation now in progress against the American A. K. Cutting, and realizing material damage which Cutting has caused me and caring more for the dignity of my native country and my own delicacy almost united by the international character which the foreign press has given the trial of Cutting, I desist from the civil action which I legally represent, as I consider this step of greater honor as to my conduct.

PORTLAND, THURSDAY, AUG 19 1886

TERRITORIAL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

In the coming election in Washington territory the railroad question, the labor question and the liquor question are likely to be much more considered by voters than the common issues of politics. The democratic party of the territory in convention yesterday at Tacoma put forth a platform calculated to attract to the support of their candidate the element which is hostile to the Northern Pacific railroad and its interests, the hoodlum element which assumes to represent the labor interest of the territory and the whisky crowd. The labor resolution is weak since it attempts the impossible feat of riding two horses going in opposite directions. It means, though its terms are discreetly soft, sympathy with the mob which drove peaceful Chinese from their homes last winter at Tacoma and other places and brought on a reign of terror at Seattle. An effort is made also to run with the hare and chase with the hounds by omitting any reference to the liquor question, which now agitates the territory, and it is quite needless to explain that silence at this time means alliance with the whisky interest. It is in perfect accord with the history, character and practice of the democratic party to choose this position to represent the wrong side of current questions, and to appeal for support to prejudice and self interest rather than to patriotism and morality. An effort will be made to secure for the democratic candidate the formal indorsement of the "workingmen" so-called, and it is surmised that it will succeed. The attitude assumed by the democracy will force the republican party of the territory to take decided ground for "law and order" with what this term implied during the troubles of last winter. It will also force it to take ground either outright or implied for prohibition and to appeal to the conservative sentiment and calm sense of the territory as to the railroad question.

Mr. Voorhees, who has been nominated by the democrats for delegate to congress, is the present incumbent. He is a young man of good character, industrious habits and fair ability. He was elected two years ago on the anti railroad issue and has made a very good record in congress.

TILDEN AND VANDERBILT

Eastern papers contrast the liberal bequest of Tilden for a foundation of a free public library with the failure of Wm H Vanderbilt to do anything for the public worthy of his immense opportunity. It seems to us there is something to be said for Mr Vanderbilt in mitigation of this unfavorable judgment. It is this that Mr Tilden owed his money to nobody but himself; he was a man without wife, without children, and his money thus acquired was not in the nature of a trust, except in the sense that great wealth is always a responsible moral trust. Mr Tilden after providing handsomely for all his relatives, and with the exception of an aged sister he had no relatives very near or necessitous, was untrammeled by any obligations to anybody. But William H Vanderbilt's great fortune was not earned by his own independent action as was that of Tilden. He was 50 years old before his father trusted him sufficiently to select him for his heir and trustee. The old commodore's millions were his own work. It had cost him a good deal of toil and time and anxiety to accumulate them and he considered them his monument, because they were largely invested in the great railroad enterprises that his genius organized and firmly established. The original Vanderbilt was not a philanthropist and he didn't wish to will the monument of his millions to a crazy fool or indolent incompetent who would undermine the monument with his vicious or foolish extravagance and tumble it into ruin, so from the hard headed standpoint of the old commodore he made a sensible will when he left the bulk of his millions to the only child that was likely to take care of them. He provided generously for all the dissipated fools and knaves of his family, who nevertheless were not content and attacked it in court. This litigation endured until the heirs in their angry greed began to strip old Vanderbilt naked before the world and expose his personal infirmities to the crowd and Wm. H Vanderbilt settled the suit, paying the litigants their own price to respect the old commodore's corpse. Then when Wm H Vanderbilt made his will he endeavored to perpetuate the desires of his father, from whose hand he had received his millions as a family trust, and he distributed it in such a way as secure the maintenance of a sort of financial monument to the genius of the founder of the family. He placed one-half of his money in this shape in line with the thought of his father, who did not want the result of his life work wrecked by the personal extravagance or knavish folly of any of his descendants. He wanted the Vanderbilt name to be forever indissolubly identified with the administrative and executive control, the management of the Vanderbilt system of railways, and this could not be done except through a very large perpetual investment in the Vanderbilt stocks. Whatever may be thought of the original ambition of Commodore Vanderbilt he had a right to expect that his son and trustee would religiously execute his wishes, and that he would pass this trust to his own sons, guarded by the same conditions under which he received it from his father. The purpose of the old commodore was to keep [illegible] intact, passing from one generation to another, and Wm H Vanderbilt [illegible] his fame and fortune [illegible] to the several charges of his sons, trusting to them to maintain the full interest in the great railroad corporations that are associated with the Vanderbilt name, and [illegible] further augmented [illegible] ties. Within [illegible] probable that [illegible] dered, [illegible] tributed [illegible] its original [illegible] family [illegible] the Astors have [illegible] their money and family [illegible] down to the third generation [illegible] was a great trader, his son William was a very cautious manager of his millions in real estate but a man of not the slightest public, social or political consequence in his day, and his sons are members of that numerous nobility in America, distinguished by the popular title of "Count No Count." Vanderbilt's fortune will live intact longer than Astor's, because the blood has more brains and versatility than the Astor family, but ultimately the unknown factor of human nature will do its work, and the Astor and Vanderbilt families will be gradually disintegrated and distributed within another century of American life. If England, with her laws of primogeniture and entail finds it difficult to keep the fortunes of great families from going to the devil, it is easy to see their ultimate doom in America. The original strain of blood will weaken and then the family millions will be sure, if not wasted, to be distributed, and any accident to the vast railroad properties might precipitate this result. Now, while the ambition of the original Vanderbilt was different from that of Tilden as to the posthumous distribution of his millions, it should be remembered that the early circumstances, training and calling of the two men were different. The original Vanderbilt was a man of commercial genius and small education; he thought lightly of books and schools, beyond that narrow learning which is necessary to the transaction of business; an unimaginative man, he wanted his millions always to remain an investment and a corporate power which should be his monument; his son was bound by his wishes and has bound his own sons to perpetuate his administration of the great fortune according to the desires of the great business genius that achieved it. Tilden's wealth was won by a kind of ability and the opportunity that belongs to a great lawyer rather than to a great trader. Tilden was a Yale graduate; a student, a thinker, a lawyer, a politician, a man who loved books, a man of natural literary genius and taste, a man who knew and loved books; who knew men too well to recklessly love them. With Tilden's love of books, a library was a natural object for posthumous benevolence, to Vanderbilt, who neither knew nor valued books, a library was a luxury. Tilden without a wife, childless, earned his fortune and was free to do as he pleased. Wm H Vanderbilt had children, was trammeled by an enormous fortune that he had not earned, and for which he felt he was morally only his father's executor and administrator. And yet W H Vanderbilt gave New York something better than a free library when he gave it a free hospital. There are libraries enough and to spare for all who really are fit to use books to advantage, but of great free hospitals of ample endowments, of great public charities wisely executed there are not enough; there will never be too many. And to the third generation of Vanderbilts New York owes a splendid building for the free comfort and enjoyment of the employes of the N Y Central and Hudson River railroads something better than a free library as a generous experiment to promote more intimate relations of humane independence and in trust sympathy between great employers and employes. Tilden had brains and taste enough to found a free library and yet while he lived, wifeless, childless, as he was, he was an avaricious man, who dropped no more daily dew of mercy and beneficence on his fellow men than Vanderbilt. He clung to his millions to the last, he was quite as close, careful and sharp with his fellow men as Wm H Vanderbilt while he lived; indeed Vanderbilt was personally more genial, kind, lovable and liberal in his early days of comparatively small resources than was Tilden. Subsequently it was true of both of them that they were disposed to wait for death to break their grasp on their millions before they commenced to distribute. Both were in daily walk avaricious men, but Tilden's education, superior intellectual tastes and learning persuaded him to devote his money to a library that Vanderbilt could not appreciate, and to which Tilden would hardly have been generous had he been other than a childless old man of severely scholastic training and tastes. Allowing for differing circumstances, training, etc., Tilden hardly deserves to be placed above Vanderbilt.

THE COMIC STATESMAN

The latest report is that Gen Butler will be the democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts. Butler was beaten for governor in 1883 by only 8500 plurality, and his defeat was obtained then, not because he had offended dear old Massachusetts by his methods or his morals. It was his manners, his brutal frankness that stung the state pride. Butler was in bad form in Beacon street. He was not a polished, discreet, plausible demagogue; he was a vulgar, popular idol, and the well dressed, well-bred aristocracy of Massachusetts hated him as cordially as the Roman aristocracy hated the Gracchi. Had Butler respected the superficial pride and sensibility of his state and its broadcloth statesmen he could not have been beaten, for he never did anything that stood for lower moral sense in public life than a number of men that the old Bay state has delighted to honor. Give Butler the comeliness and polish of manner that belonged to Caleb Cushing and John D Long, and his political morals would not have worried the nabobs and silver topped statesmen of either party. Butler was not beaten in 1883 because he was wicked, but because he was deemed vulgar of speech and manners. He was noisy, loud, arrogant, the antipodes of the aesthete in politics and literature, and then the provincial state pride was wounded because Butler, when governor, hesitated to imitate Ham's conduct when he called in all the boys to gaze at his old father's shame. Butler marked every mole on the face of Massachusetts, every strawberry mark on her limbs, every indolent ulcer on her body politic. He accused her of having social and political smallpox when she indignantly protested that she had nothing worse than ringworm and eczema. He was a vulgar, vituperative, noisy, pugnacious fellow, and he was beaten, not because he was more devil at heart than many men, who have been crowned with the victor's honors in Massachusetts, but because he was an arrogant, vulgar, disagreeable devil. He was not content to charm and cajole the crowd, but he must needs salute the "very best people," with gibes, catcalls and bitter jests, and so dear old Massachusetts that voted to ask congress to canonize Oakes Ames, the briber, who boasted of his bribery, as a hero, saint and martyr, voted down Ben Butler in 1883, not primarily nor chiefly because he was a sinner but because "our best people" and state pride condemned him to execution, not for his bad morals, but for his bad manners. Massachusetts then acted like a vain woman who would cheerfully accept a handsome, rich, well mannered rake for her husband, but would never forgive the fellow who called attention to the cast in her eye, or noticed she was bow-legged and web-footed, or stigmatized her "old gold" locks as red hair. That was Butler's fault, he criticised his dear old state's personal charms with vulgar frankness and coarse exaggeration, and for this boorish behavior the dear old lady bounced him, set the family dog on him, and told the servant-girl that hereafter she wasn't at home when he called. Butler made love to Massachusetts by making fun of her, and Massachusetts, womanlike, refused to forgive him, demanded back all her letters, tore up his photograph, and declared on her honor that while Butler may not have distributed bribes, like Oakes Ames, he "was certainly no gentleman." Womanlike, Massachusetts gratefully remembered that Oakes Ames never made fun of her hair or [illegible] satirized her taste or her carriage, and womanlike she did not forget that while [illegible] Ben Butler had talked of her like a blackguard. And yet with the best people of both parties against him in 1883, Butler was beaten only by 8500 votes and this defeat was [illegible] the desertion of some 10,000 democrats, who probably could not be counted upon with certainty to always vote against [illegible] Butler the [illegible] of both parties give him amazing popular strength at the polls among the working classes, who enjoy his grim humor and propensity to execute antics that he knows will amuse the crowd. Human nature is always impatient of [illegible], very blind to the faults and kind to the virtues of a fellow with a deal of fun in him. The memory of Falstaff's wonderful wit and fascinating animal spirits makes us instinctively say with the poet, "We could better spare a better man," and so with Butler, the amusing, antic side of the man makes him very strong with the people. When Butler was once cautioned by a friend not to say anything unpleasant at Harvard commencement he answered, "Oh, no; when I visit a family a member of which, some years ago, was hung for murder I know better than to at once commence talking about rope." This was a grim allusion to the execution of a Harvard college professor, Dr Webster, for the murder of Parkman, and illustrates the rank, ready wit that makes Butler so popular on the stump, and explains largely his social strength with a good many upright and intelligent people. The man makes them laugh, and the world is so dull and weary to the best of us that we are captivated with the man who makes us laugh heartily. Then there is a large class of lighter, more frivolous persons who love a fellow full of absurd antics, a fellow full of tunes at all times, a fellow who raises a dust and a din, and wherever he goes is full of bustle and motion. They run to see him just as boys run to and revel in a large fire. They know it is destructive, that it is dangerous, that there is no profit in watching it, that it ought to be put out, and yet they are always sorry when the flames are quenched. It is so with Butler. He is a blazing tar barrel and bonfire statesman. He is not always decent, but he is never dull, and the "boys" of all parties sincerely like "Old Ben" with his grum voice, which has been compared to the sound of artillery moving over a corduroy road, his grotesque face on top of his head, his divergent eyes, his bitter sarcasms and his shrewd mother wit. Verily, Butler's capacity to make fun for the boys is one great source of his popularity. He blends the abilities, if not the aspiration of a statesman, with the versatile antics of a harlequin, and his harlequin side, exploding in coarse wit and rank repartee, is not his weakest. He is a sort of a cross between Humpty Dumpty and John Wilkes, the famous English demagogue, whose popularity, despite his licentious life, survived, like that of Butler, all opposition and derision nearly thirty years. We suspect this harlequin statesman will be a very lively political corpse, an intolerable thorn in the flesh of the republican party in Massachusetts if he gets the democratic nomination this year. There is one consolation, if he is a candidate, it will be a most comic and lively canvass, for Butler only spoke the truth when he once laughingly said "I may be cross-eyed, an old sinner, a robber and a demagogue, and anything else that may come handy, but it would have been a cold, dull day for the newspaper writer if I had never been born."

When the Canadian Pacific makes its terminus and great Pacific depot at some hole in the northern coast; when the Northern Pacific makes its chief depot at Tacoma, when the Chicago & Northwestern, with the Oregon Pacific, makes a great city at Yaquina bay; when the Oregon Short Line makes another commercial city at the Siuslaw, and when the California & Oregon takes all our southern trade, then, indeed, it will make hard times and poor picking for Portland. Then we will be able to understand and pity the situation of San Francisco, robbed of her commerce as she has been by Benicia, Wilmington and San Diego.

Referring to the criticisms of a paragraph in THE OREGONIAN yesterday, Mr. H C Campbell, superintendent of construction of the Morrison street bridge, says that the company desires to make a draw large enough to accommodate shipping at all seasons. The exact width of the draw has not yet been fixed, since soundings now in progress have not yet determined the best disposition of piers. It will be, he says, not less than 150 feet in the clear and possibly 160 feet.

The anti railroad spirit of the platform put forth by the democrats of Washington territory yesterday represents the candidate rather than the party, and the hoodlum anti-Chinese spirit of the same document represents the party rather than the candidate.

Governor Squire, justified by results and approved at Washington and by the law and order sentiment of the territory, has little to fear from demagogic platform makers.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS

MADE AN ASSIGNMENT

BOSTON, Aug 18.—Samuel R Payson to-day made an assignment to Samuel Johnson of Hovey & Co. The announcement caused great surprise as Payson had been considered as one of the wealthiest men in Boston. His financial difficulty it is stated has been caused by endorsement of the paper of the Indian Orchard mills which are virtually owned by himself. Wm Gray Jr whose dead body was found this morning was treasurer of the mill and Payson's assignment is the natural result of Gray's heavy defalcation. Payson is a man of the highest standing and his difficulties elicit sympathy from every quarter, and it is thought by many that they will prove of a temporary nature.

Payson has submitted his resignation as president of the City National bank and it will be acted upon by the directors at a meeting to-morrow. His liabilities are estimated at $300,000. Payson stated this morning that he thought he had ample funds to pay every item of his indebtedness in full but his affairs are in such a condition that his property could not be realized upon at decent figures at a forced sale. He believed it for the best interest of every one that he make an assignment. The failure is due to a shrinkage in the shares of the Indian Orchard mills. Payson was a large owner in the Holyowell Manufacturing company, of Hallowell Maine.

BLAINE NOT OUT OF POLITICS

CINCINNATI, Aug 18.—The Enquirer says that those who imagine James G Blaine is out of politics will find themselves mistaken. He is preparing an assault upon the present administration in regard to the conduct of the department of state. Within the last few days he has sent to the capital for a large list of executive documents and copies of official communications to congress from the president and the departments. This indicates that he is preparing for an aggressive campaign. He has got a complete list of pension vetoes, appropriation acts including the river and harbor act, documents relating to the tariff, coinage of silver, conduct of the treasury department in regard to reducing the surplus and other subjects upon which the democratic party in congress and the administration have not agreed. His largest demands have been for documents relating to the state department. He has obtained the correspondence concerning the fisheries troubles with Canada and the imprisonment of editor Cutting in Mexico and copies of all new treaties and old treaties with England and other countries.

CONVENTION OF EX PRISONERS

BUFFALO Aug. 18.—The national association of ex prisoners of war met here to-day. Many old soldiers who were in Southern prisons were present. Hon J H Longnecker of Bedford Pa., is president and J F Mack of Sandusky Ohio acted as secretary. A committee was appointed to prepare resolutions asking congress to pass a measure placing all ex prisoners of war on the pension rolls. This evening an open session was held at which a large number of delegates and others made speeches. The convention will continue through to-morrow.

WASHINGTON NOTES

WASHINGTON, Aug 18.—Hugh J Mohan ex deputy labor commissioner of California, and for some time past special Washington correspondent for several Western newspapers was to-day appointed special agent of the labor bureau.

Chief Clerk Nash of the postoffice department left to-day for a month's visit to his home in Wisconsin.

CANON BAGOT

DENVER, Aug 18.—Canon Bagot, spiritual adviser to the Queen in Ireland, arrived here this evening. His visit to America is for the purpose of securing to the beneficiaries of his will the estate of Robert Nugent Moore, who died in New Mexico last March possessed of property valued at $80,000. The bequests were made to charitable institutions in England and Ireland.

THE PRESIDENT GOES FISHING

PROSPECT HOUSE, Upper Saranac lake, New York, Aug 18.—President Cleveland caught his first fish this afternoon. It was a speckled trout, weighing three fourths of a pound, an unusual weight for brook trout at this season, for this fish has not yet begun to emerge from its summer hiding places in the deep waters of the lake. The fish found its way to the president's table two hours later.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

G A R CAMP FIRE—Last night the several G. A. R posts of this city held a "close camp fire" at their hall, corner First and Taylor for the entertainment of visiting comrades About half past eight the commander in-chief and his party and escort came into the hall and took stations on the platform, the band playing "Hail to the Chief" as they went up the aisle The party consisted of Gen Lucius Fairchild, commander in-chief Col Gray, adjutant general, Past Commander in chief S S Burdett, Gen Selden Connor, Gen J R. Lewis, Gen John C Black, commissioner of pensions, Gen Grosvenor, Col Vanosdal, Gov Roble of Maine, Lieut-Gov J C Smith of Illinois, comrade J W Feigham, Kansas, and other distinguished members of the Grand Army The address of welcome was delivered by Department Commander F H Lamb and was responded to by Gen Fairchild in a very eloquent address full of good sound sense, closing with some very witty reminiscences of the war His address was received with great enthusiasm by the comrades and was frequently interrupted by applause Very able and eloquent addresses were made by the gentlemen whose names are mentioned above, particularly by Gen Black, Gen Burdett, and Gov Smith, of Illinois, whose remarks received unbounded applause The speaking concluded at 11 o'clock when a collation was served, the pipe of peace produced and smoked during which a general handshaking was indulged in The camp fire broke up about midnight after singing Auld Lang Syne The hall was packed with members of the Grand Army and the affair was entirely successful and thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Some of the long pipes that were smoked during the camp fire were carried off by the comrades to retain as souvenirs of the occasion

POLICE COURT—P McGowan, charged with trespass, explained that he fell down in front of Weidler's mill and was too drunk to get up so he prepared to lodge there for the night. The court took his word for it and promptly remarked, "ten dollars" Jim Johnson, an Indian who took and held possession of First street from Washington to Alder for about a half hour early yesterday morning, forfeited bail of $5 for drunkenness Another inebriate who said he wanted to sober up was, at his own request, allowed thirty days in which to do so H C Albrecht waived examination on a charge of attempting to commit an outrageous assault on Emma Leich, and was held on $1000 bonds to appear before the grand jury The girl was required to give $500 bonds to guarantee her attendance as a witness Edward Lathery, accused of the larceny of two bottles of gin from the saloon of L Zeitfuchs, asked for an examination, which was set for to-day Cora Bell was held to answer before the grand jury on a charge of complicity in the larceny of a revolver and $20 from H H Decker Young Whistler, whom Decker accuses as the person who took the property out of his pocket, while in a hack at the White house, was also bound over A like charge against Nellie Grant in connection with the same transaction was dismissed there being no evidence against her The testimony of Decker was that he caught Whistler going through his pockets, and that Whistler turned over what he got to the others, who refused to deliver it on demand The pistol was recovered by Detective Simmons from Cora Bell It is claimed Decker was intoxicated, didn't lose any money except in his imagination, and that he could have got his pistol for the asking It is alleged it was taken from him for fear he would use it.

BODIES RECOVERED—At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the body of Wm Fendt, who was drowned Sunday night, was recovered by John Frost and George Soule with grappling irons, a little above the buoy, and in almost a direct line between the buoy and the Ross island boathouse landing In the afternoon at half past 1 o'clock the body of Emma Reed was recovered by Robert Harrison and a young man named Utley, about fifteen feet from where that of Fendt was hauled up Both were landed on shore near the waterworks, and thence conveyed to the coroner's office At 7 o'clock an inquest was held and a verdict of accidental drowning rendered by the jury Nothing in the evidence adduced at the inquest differed materially from the statements of the affair already published the only addition being the testimony as to the circumstances attending the finding of the bodies A dispatch has been received from Fendt's father in Wheeling, W Va., instructing Coroner DeLin to bury the remains here The funeral will take place to-day at _ P M The funeral of Emma Reed will take place at 1 P M and a collection will be taken up among her friends to defray expenses.

INSANE CASES—Yesterday afternoon a woman named Anna Boyle, who resides on Market street, was brought to the county jail by policeman Cornelius to be placed into custody pending an examination on a charge of insanity The woman talks rationally enough and claims that she is not crazy but only poor She has three children who have been running around lately in an almost naked condition Mrs Boyle also has a husband, but says she don't consider him a husband, as he is off somewhere on the railroad and fails to provide for her The case will be looked into to-day Sheriff Watts of Columbia county, arrived here yesterday in charge of W A Herrick, whom he is taking to the insane asylum at Salem The commitment states that Herrick is a single man 30 years of age and a farmer He was found lying on the railroad track Monday night by Sheriff Watts and claimed that some people were after him to kill him because he gave them away He had been about St. Helens for six days and it was supposed he went there from this city The cause of his insanity is alcoholism

NOT IMPROVED BY HIS TRIP—Councilmen Forbes, Fliedner and Gerdes were at their posts in the council last evening The first two looked improved by their sojourn at the beach but the prohibition climate down there has not agreed with Gerdes He was very quiet till an ordinance extending the pound limits came up when he turned loose and scored the nabobs of Nob Hill who objected to having their gardens destroyed by the chickens of the honest laboring man Then he subsided till a bill of $5 for a score of [illegible] for the City park came up when he broke out again He kicked about the outlay [illegible] cause a couple of cartloads of water had been used in sprinkling the City park Forbes Farrell, Hackerty and Gallagher dressed him down on the [illegible] explain [illegible] the park was visited by large numbers of taxpayers who had a right to be made comfortable

[illegible] COMMITTEE—The committee met at [illegible] hall, last night, Mr W J Kelly presiding There was a large attendance of the committee and much enthusiasm was manifested The sub committees [illegible] reported that they [illegible] view [illegible] public [illegible] which was the [illegible] The committee on printing and [illegible] stated that the address [illegible] at the last meeting was under way and that they would be ready to make a report on the [illegible] at next meeting The committee on invitations submitted a long list of vice presidents, which will be published in due time The finance committee report several liberal subscriptions Enthusiastic speeches were made by several of the members and the meeting adjourned to convene at the same place at 8 o'clock on Monday evening

DEATH OF J H LYON—Intelligence was received here yesterday of the death of John H Lyon on Tuesday at Ilwaco He was one of Portland's respected citizens, and had been a resident here about thirty years During that time the deceased had been chief of the volunteer fire department and a member of the common council, in the deliberations of which body he proved himself to be a man of more than ordinary intelligence The prime cause of his death was from lead poisoning, contracted while following his occupation as painter His remains were brought here for interment The deceased was a native of New York, aged about 55 years, and leaves a widow He was a member of Samaritan lodge, I O O F

SHINGLE MILLS BURNED—Early Tuesday morning the shingle mill of C C Rulifson at Carrollton W T, four miles below Kalama, was destroyed by fire together with about 100,000 shingles and some timber Loss, $2500 to $3000 no insurance The fire is supposed to have caught from a spark smoldering in the sawdust. A correspondent at Millwood, Douglas county, Oregon, reports the burning of Jordan & Himes' shingle mill, on Hubbard creek, together with 100,000 shingles, on the night of the 12th inst Loss, $2000 no insurance The mill will be rebuilt as soon as Mr Jordan, who is now east, returns.

NEW POSTOFFICE DIVISION—Information has been received to-day that the postoffice department has decided to form a new division of post office inspection, consisting of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and Alaska. The head quarters will be at Portland and Inspector George Mason placed in charge Other inspectors will be assigned to the division in a short time

SAILING RACE POSTPONED—The sailing race announced for to-day has been postponed until Saturday at 3 o'clock This is to accommodate several skippers who are rigging up new sails in addition to those mentioned yesterday. The American ships Columa and Edward Kidder will enter boats, so that England will not have all the glory to herself.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT—In the U S circuit court yesterday Mr Chief Justice Waite and ex-Gov Hoadly of Ohio sat with Judge Deady After several cases had been disposed of Judge Deady stated that the court would take a recess in order that the members of the bar might have an opportunity to make the acquaintance of the distinguished visitors Judge Deady then introduced to them such members of the bar as were not already acquainted, and half an hour was pleasantly spent in chatting, when business was resumed and the visitors took their leave Judge Waite and party will accompany Governor Hoadly as far as The Dalles this morning by boat. The governor will proceed East and Judge Waite will return here and will go overland to California having engaged private conveyance over the space between the railroads

GEN LOGAN COMING—Gen John A Logan and party, who had intended to leave on the 20th inst from San Francisco to Portland via Victoria have changed their plan It was brought about by Senator Stanford inviting the party to make the trip overland in special train and stages to be provided by him. The invitation has been accepted, and according to a dispatch received by F H Lamb, department commander G A R, yesterday, they will leave San Francisco Friday next and arrive here the following Monday at 4 30 P M A big reception will be given Gen Logan here on such night as he selects—probably next Tuesday It will be at the pavilion, and the Grand Army will probably take the lead

WILL NOT LOSE THE BENEFITS—Holders of certificates of the Portland General Hospital company which made an assignment yesterday, need have no fear that they will lose the benefits Before the assignment the company made arrangements with the sisters hospitals at Portland, Astoria and Walla Walla to honor these certificates So in case the holder of a certificate should be ill, he can obtain admission, without charge, at either sisters' hospital and he may choose the one most convenient for him

THE RAILROAD BRIDGE—Yesterday several piles were driven in the Willamette river a few feet above Ainsworth wharf, which place has been selected as the site for the railroad bridge It is understood that the piles were driven simply to test the character of the river bed not as a commencement of the work The railway authorities have decided not to begin construction until a charter has been obtained from the legislature This will be asked for at the next session, which meets in January, 1887

PIONEER WOMAN DEAD—Mrs Hoyt, wife of Capt Nelson Hoyt died at Astoria Monday and was buried yesterday at St Helens, at which place she for many years formerly resided Mrs Hoyt was 76 years of age at the time of her death, and leaves four daughters all married, and two sons One of her daughters is married to F D Winton of Astoria, and the other to William Pickering, of this city The other two are in California Capt. Nelson is an old resident, having come to Oregon in 1848

THE EAST SIDE

Officers of the New Albina Fire Company—Hydrant Test

The Albina fire company, mentioned heretofore, was organized with a membership of twenty and the following officers President, C H Hill secretary, Charles Carroll treasurer, T J Fisher, chief engineer, J F McCarthy foreman, George Harris first assistant, Ben Emerick second assistant, Eli Murphy The company will meet in the firemen's hall every first and third Tuesday evening in the month It is negotiating for a hose cart and 500 feet of hose and proposes to do effective work when ever needed

ONE SUCCESSFUL HOSE TEST

Last evening the proprietors of the Albina water works had a test of their mains with fifty feet of hose and a [illegible] inch nozzle A stream was thrown over a flag pole at the Continental hotel, seventy two feet high, and a horizontal stream was thrown about 100 feet. A good many people were out expecting to see a test of the East Portland company's mains also, but they were disappointed as Foster & Co, refused to allow the use of their hose and nozzle for the purpose They kept their display up for about 15 minutes when a rush of sand from the well they got water from put a stop to the fun The people were very indignant over the fact that a contest between the two companies could not be had and censured the Albina company quite severely for refusing to allow their apparatus to be used It is understood that the East Portland company will have a test in a few days

CATHOLIC ACADEMY NAMED

The new parochial school building just finished by the Catholic church here has been named the Academy of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary A day school will be commenced in it on September 1 Its prospects are quite flattering

PERSONAL AND GENERAL

E. O Doud has returned from the coast

Postmistress Cougill has returned from her trip to Yaquina.

Hon S R Harrington and wife and returned from San Francisco on Tuesday

Conductor Banks and family have gone to their farm at Little Falls, W T, to rusticate for a few weeks

Rescued from Death

William J Coughlin of Somerville Mass says In the fall of 1876 I was taken with BLEEDING OF LUNGS followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh and was confined to my bed In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar At one time a report went around that I was dead I gave up hope, but a friend told me of DR. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I got a bottle when to my surprise, I commenced to get well, and to-day I feel better than for three years."

RESOLUTIONS.

Directing the city attorney to examine the status of T street as proposed to be extended from North Eighteenth street to the Balch creek road adopted

Authorizing the auditor to draw a warrant on the general fund to pay $25 assessment against park block A for sewer in Pine street adopted

Authorizing an expenditure for repairing B street sewer adopted

Directing the superintendent of streets to strictly enforce the provisions of section 5 of ordinance 1145, relating to the use of the streets for building purposes and the removal of buildings, so that the least possible obstruction of streets may be had adopted.

Authorizing an expenditure for a street lamp at the northwest corner of Sixteenth and C streets adopted

Giving notice of the proposed improvement of Corbett street from Lane to a line 130 feet south of the south line of Third avenue by grading, laying sidewalks, etc adopted

Giving notice of intention to change the grade of S street at the intersection of North Twenty first street adopted

Directing the committee on streets and the street superintendent to cause the rubbish on the City levee to be burned and to have a fence built along the land side of the levee, with suitable gates to keep scavengers from dumping thereon and to have notices posted forbidding all persons from depositing rubbish there

A motion was made to adopt Gerdes thought the resolution better be referred to the committee on judiciary, as he did not think the council had a right to fence the public levee

Forbes did not think there was any need of going to the expense of building a fence The police should be made to look after the levee

Farrell said they had been instructed to attend to this matter more than once but paid no heed It might be a good plan to fence in the police

Several councilmen testified to the fearful condition of the levee and to the apathy and indifference of the police in the matter

The resolution was referred to the judiciary committee

Mr Forbes introduced a resolution respectfully requesting the board of police commissioners to detail a policeman to specially guard the public levee against being made a dumping ground by scavengers and to cause the arrest of all persons so offending adopted Adjourned

TO THE TRAVELING PUBLIC

The undersigned cabin passengers on the steamer Mexico of the Pacific Coast Steamship company, on her last trip from San Francisco to Tacoma after an experience of 108 hours on board of said vessel do, for the benefit of those travelers who may hereafter intend to make the tour via Victoria, hereby record our protest

First—Against the steamship Mexico because she has neither the speed proper accommodations nor conveniences for a passenger boat.

Second—Against Captain Huntington and a majority of the officers of the Mexico, because of their incivility, surliness, and total indifference to the comfort of the passengers

Third—Against the table of said steamer because of the incapacity of the steward, the inefficiency of the waiters and inadequate provisions for the several tables

For the reasons above set forth we would recommend all persons who intend making a visit to Puget sound to walk rather than take their chances on the steamer Mexico "

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked more especially in difficult and long standing cases Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order Should the patient however require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient Use no other CHILDREN.

Parents are often worried about a child that shows signs of drooping and loss of appetite and no desire to join in the sports of their playmates It is hardly serious enough to require a physician, but it is plain that the child needs something It is not prudent to force into the young and undeveloped systems strong and nauseous drugs, but a medicine that will aid, invigorate, enliven and thoroughly cleanse the system by gentle means is what is desired Simmons Liver Regulator is a medicine of this kind The child will not rebel against taking it, because it is not unpleasant to the taste, it does not compel them to remain indoors, and it does not weaken or injure the system. It can be safely administered to the youngest infant.

"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator in my family for eight or ten years and found it the best family medicine I ever used for anything that may happen."—OVID G. SPARKS, Ex Mayor of Macon, Ga.

Benton's Hair Grower.

All who are BALD, all who are becoming BALD, all who do not want to be BALD, all who are troubled with DANDRUFF or ITCHING of the scalp should use Benton's Hair Grower. EIGHTY PER CENT of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through sickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a short time and although the person may have remained bald for years if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of Hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years we have fully substantiated the following fact

We grow Hair in 80 cases out of 100, no matter how long bald

Unlike other preparations it contains no sugar of lead or vegetable or mineral poisons

It is a specific for falling hair dandruff, and itching of the scalp

The Hair Grower is a hair food and its composition is almost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality

Price single strength $1 If your druggists have not got it we will send it prepaid on receipt of price

FREIGHTS—Market without new features The Beechholm has filled up here At Astoria the Dunelm is well along.

WHEAT—Foreign markets closed rather easier and the situation is not well defined Recent advances on the other side appear traceable to bad weather over England The American markets to-day rule strong San Francisco futures closing higher Here the market is quiet but firm in sympathy with advices Buyers and sellers are both slow to operate

European mail dates are to the 1 inst Then harvest results depended greatly upon August weather as a wet month might easily take off 10 to 15 per cent of the crops of both France and England. July English weather was not considered to have been particularly unfavorable, but the reader of daily reports by cable will have learned that up to yesterday August weather had been unsettled to wet, which fact must be remembered in reading the mail advice The English acreage this year is likely to turn out at about 400 000 acres yielding about 8,500 000 to 9 000,000 quarters against 10 [illegible] 471 last year and 10,25[illegible] 0 in 1884 The total imports of wheat and flour in the past season of 1885-86, will reach about 1[illegible]0 000 qrs and the stocks will probably be reduced to 1 500 000 to 2 000 000 qrs by September 1 against 3 000 000 on September 1 last year Thus from present appearances the minimum wants of the United Kingdom in the coming season of 1886 87 will be 1[illegible],000,000 qrs. In France the crop promises to yield better than was at first expected but the total will not much exceed 100,000 000 hectolitres against 110 000 000 last year Thus the requirements from abroad on the basis of the past season's imports, which have amounted to [illegible],250 000 qrs will be about 5 500 000 qrs Germany expects a full average crop of wheat but not so good a rye crop as last year Since Germany fixed foreign wheat to the extent of 35 per [illegible] her imports have been reduced to a minimum say about 1 000 000 qrs and in the ensuing season there will be not much difference in this respect Russia has a better wheat crop than last year although in some of the southern governments the yield of winter wheat is only about half an average The reserves of old wheat [illegible] usually exhausted this season [illegible] the fact that in the past twelve months the total exports of wheat have not [illegible] 00 000 qrs while her average export [illegible] years reach [illegible] 0 000 qrs In the ensuing season it is not expected Russia will have more than [illegible] 00 000 qrs to spare for export. India will have a maximum surplus for export of [illegible] 000 qrs Belgium Holland and Switzerland will require their usual amount of 4 000 000 to 4 500 000 qrs [illegible] concerning Italy Spain and Portugal there [illegible] no reliable information at present. From this [illegible] of the probable state of things in the season of 188[illegible] one may gather to what extent Europe will have to rely upon the United States for supplies A deduction is that allowing a good average export from Hungary and Chile and considering the failure of the last Australian crop the United States will be called upon to supply at least 1[illegible] 000 000 qrs or 1[illegible]0 000 000 bushels

OATS—To fill order 45c was paid for good feed As a selling figure 4[illegible]@4[illegible]c is still named

POTATOES—Nothing much done in open market as there is only the local request to meet and that is mainly filled in a retail way The quotation is $1@1 10 per cental sweets selling at [illegible]c

FRUITS ETC—Last steamer arrivals did not move quickly Grapes went at $1@1 10 for black and Tokay Peaches sold at $1 [illegible]@1 50 and but few local are to be had at about the same price Cantaloupes sold at $[illegible] 50 Oregon melons bring all sorts of prices and are in large movement California lemons quoted $[illegible] no supply of consequence to be had but a shipment is en route Good apples bring 50@60c with fair request Some California tomatoes in

EGGS—Receipts slightly increased. Quote 14@15c and fairly steady

POULTRY—Chickens rule weaker at $[illegible]@4 [illegible] for the best all demands being easily met Other poultry dull and inquiries are few Nominal prices are $[illegible] 50@4 for ducks $[illegible] for geese and 10@1[illegible]c for turkey

HIDES ETC—Advices are of quiet to steady markets Our own is without new interest, Receipts rather light We quote dry hides 14@15 [illegible]c light salted 6½@7c heavy do 7@8c dry kip and calf 14@15c salt kip 6@8c salt calf 8@10c salt veal 8c valley deerskins 20@25c for winter and summer Eastern Oregon 15@20c for winter and summer sheepskins [illegible]5c@$1 25 for short and long wool elk hides 15c beaver $1 50@2 25 bear skins $1 50 to $6 Tallow 3@3½c for common and 4@4½c for choice

PROVISIONS—Market firm throughout values not being changed to any [illegible] extent. Low stocks of choice local are steadily lessened throwing the trade more to Eastern cuts which are in free receipt Lard rules firm with usual request As against last week Chicago meats are lower and lard higher

DRIED FRUITS—Stocks low assortments narrow and [illegible] promising to make a pretty thorough clean up At San Francisco the market is quiet [illegible] quote [illegible] prices from dealers mostly nominal [illegible] quartered apples 3@4c [illegible] pitted plums 6@8c, French prunes [illegible] common peaches [illegible] pears common nominally [illegible] 50 per box

WOOL—Receipts for the week [illegible] and 62 [illegible] lbs eastern against [illegible] the same week last year Our market seems utterly devoid of interest operations being [illegible] holders doing more consigning than selling To readily place stocks probably some concession from best prices of the month would have to be granted Nominally 20 [illegible]c for valley and [illegible] 21½c for eastern [illegible] San Francisco rules weaker some sellers pretty taking less than openly demanded which course seems necessary to effect sales Eastern markets are less firm to sell in some grades showing decided weakness At Boston last week Oregon sold at [illegible] New York holds little or no Oregon wool but the incoming mail advice from there is a fair report of all Eastern markets The market for domestic fleece remains without important change The demand is moderate and the market has developed a little weakness for the finer sorts although the firm feeling in London and Antwerp has had some little influence in causing holders to be a little firmer than before, still sales have been made at prices which have all along been refused Medium fleece is held with decided firmness however and manufacturers say they cannot stock up at current prices because there is no margin for profit The [illegible] on the whole, may be called steady.

HOPS—An occasional contract for new Oregon or Washington is reported, usually at 25 to 30c, although probably something better has been done Buyers are not especially numerous and speculators manifest a front that is easier, views being wide apart. The telegraph has brought confirmation of the New York shortage, but the removal of any doubt fails to create new interest, the force of the rise having long since spent itself. A New York mail advice of the 11th inst says "The market remains in the same unsettled and unsatisfactory condition with the same uncertainty with regard to the actual extent of the damage sustained through the lice That the crop is very largely reduced there can no longer be doubt, but the reports that there will not be an eighth of a crop are doubted Crop of 1885 are plenty enough however and as the bulk of it is fair to good it will naturally exert a big influence in shaping the market for '86 hops Very choice hops are still hard to be got, and no one is bold enough to offer them anywhere at more than their probable value Foreign hops in our market, it is evident are to be an influential factor The receipts of American (reshipped) and German mainly the latter already amount to between 7000 and 8000 bales the German bale being nearly twice the size of the American, and these are selling at comparatively low figures Fair to good hops, crop 1885 sell at 26@28c while prices for all sorts except choice range from 20@30c 25@40c quoted as country prices are regarded as chimerical—is for effect if paid and paid only for a bale or so Meantime all growths are nominal

The Merchandise Market.

Business for the week has shown little out of ordinary the goods movement being active for time of year Arrivals by steam and rail have not notably changed in the aggregate The Alaska steamer gets off this week with a good freight The Neddieburn is in from Liverpool with an assortment of English goods The salmon and grain bag markets are not changed bags still quoted 1[illegible]@[illegible]c for ordinary business The Remonstrant for Liverpool carried about 40,600 cases salmon The fall pack promises to be a good one

In its review of the San Francisco market for last week the Commercial News says "Business here now that the Grand Army has evacuated the town is by no means as lively as could be wished and on all sides are heard complaints of dull times Affairs are in much the same state as in New York where according to recent press dispatches the commercial situation is one of waiting and uncertainty The export and import movement at this port for the week has been quite large imports embracing several general cargoes from Europe and one from China The canned goods trade is the one exception to the general rule and is active and firm There is a good demand for fruits at full rates which is working off the pack rapidly shipments to the East particularly being large The salmon market is now controlled by [illegible] and prices have been advanced for all kinds Columbia river is quoted at $1 40 on the spot for favorite brands There is no further news regarding the pack The run on the Fraser river is over and the pack there is very short Other British Columbia points except Alert Bay which is an utter failure will turn out well The run on the Sacramento is now fair and packing has been resumed The quotation for that class of salmon is $1 [illegible] here Several cargoes of codfish have come to hand during the week A new market for California canned fruits has been opened via the Canadian Pacific railroad The steamer Mexico carries [illegible] cases which are destined for Winnipeg Free arrivals of tin plate caused a decline in values Block tin is without change Quicksilver is firm with continued light receipts The labor troubles are not yet settled but as soon as the foundries are free from that embarrassment it is expected a little more activity will be shown in iron which for a long time has been in an unsatisfactory condition The Annie Johnson from Hongkong brought 1805 cases of oil and 14[illegible] 63 mats rice Oil is weaker owing to these heavy receipts Mixed rice is also in free supply and lower while No China is higher and extra No 1 is scarce with quite an advance reported No new crop of this class is expected before December Hawaiian rice is also higher and at the close the tendency is upward and probably a further advance will be reported during the coming week. Coffee is in light supply and firm Farmers are generally stacking their grain, postponing as long as possible the purchase of sacks The demand therefore is small for the season and in the absence of auction sales there is little to attract attention to this line of goods.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK Aug 18—Government bonds were dull and weak to-day State bonds dull and heavy The money market was again the chief factor in stock speculation to-day There were also reports of rate cutting in the West received and advices from the London market gave no encouragement to the bulls A general fear of being caught short of money induced an unusual demand in the early hours and an active business was done in loans to the crowd at 6@[illegible] per cent Later in the afternoon the demand ceased and those who had borrowed more money than they needed found no customers for their surplus and rates fell at the close to [illegible] per cent. The only favorable feature of the morning was the reported engagements of gold for shipment to this country The market was decidedly weak in the morning under great pressure to sell and in the first quarter of an hour Omaha dropped 1 per cent. The opening this morning was decidedly weak first prices being generally from [illegible] to [illegible] per cent. below yesterday's final figures while Louisville & Nashville was off [illegible] A drive was immediately made at prices by the bears and everything declined sharply This was succeeded by an irregular and somewhat feverish market until 1 o'clock when another break took place and the lowest prices of the day were current at [illegible] P M but prices rallied in the last hour the market closing firm at quotations

A FAST SAILER.

Remarkable Voyage of the British Bark Selene, Hull to Astoria and Return

The Hull Eastern Morning News of July 27, has the following

There is now lying in the Albert dock at Hull a ship which has made the quickest voyage from England to the Columbia river and back ever made by any ship. The vessel in question, which is called the Selene, is 966 tons register, and belongs to Glasgow. She made her first visit to Hull in 1877, when she arrived from Astoria. The Selene left Liverpool for Astoria on October 26, 1885, and arrived at Falmouth on her return on July 6, having thus only been 253 days, or less than eight months and a-half over the voyage, a record which is unbeaten The Selene, as we have said, left Liverpool on October 26, she was two days getting clear of the land, and then ran down to the line in 22 days, thus crossing the line on the 24th day out. In the 22 days she was running to the south 3299 miles were sailed, or an average of just 150 miles per day The greatest distance run in any one day was 231 miles, and with the exception of two days of calms, 118 miles was the least distance run The greatest distance made in a week was 1304 miles The run from the line to Cape Horn was made in 29 days, the cape being passed on December 1[illegible], being the 53d day out. During the whole of these 29 days the coast of South America was skirted, and the vessel went through the Strait of Le Maire, and passed close to Cape Horn The distance run in these 29 days was 4124 miles, or an average of 142 miles per day The greatest runs in 24 hours were 240, 218, 212 204, 18[illegible] and 188 miles The greatest distance run in a week was 1240 miles After passing Cape Horn a course was still steered to the southward, and it was not until December 22 that the ship could be turned to the northward The most southern latitude made was [illegible]°10 For several days after passing Cape Horn slow progress was made, one day only sixteen miles being sailed On December 23 matters improved, and 200 were recorded This was followed in a few days by 203 miles and 210 miles Whilst running through the trade winds 2[illegible] 204 200 18[illegible], 1[illegible]7, 161 1[illegible]6 and 164 miles were run in successive days During one week 1[illegible] miles were made, and the line was reached on the 83d day out, the distance run from Cape Horn being [illegible]4 miles, which was sailed in 2[illegible] days, an average of 142 miles daily—distance from England 11 [illegible]7 miles, average daily rate of sailing, 114 miles From the line to Astoria the best work was done, and the Selene arrived off the bar of the Columbia river on the 10[illegible] day out The distance from the line was 3[illegible]08 miles, which was sailed in 20 days an average of 1[illegible] miles was therefore maintained Here the biggest runs were made and in one week 1527 miles were sailed, or an average of 218 The best days work were 2[illegible], [illegible] 243 21[illegible], [illegible]16, and 212 The total number of miles sailed on the outward passage were 1[illegible]—average per day, 147 Thus, throughout the voyage, an average rate of over six knots per hour was maintained

The homeward journey was commenced on March 18 but contrary winds were encountered, and the progress made was poor Nevertheless, runs of 210, 228, 208, 221, 245, [illegible] and 210 enabled the line to be reached on the [illegible]2d day out, the distance run being 3342 miles—average rate 152, the greatest distance run in a week being 1331 miles, average 198 Cape Horn was doubled on the 53d day out, as on the outward passage it was sighted on May 10 the distance sailed by the ship from the line being 4922 miles. The distance was accomplished in 31 days, and an average daily rate of 15[illegible] miles was secured The best daily runs were 229, 225, 223, 204, 202, 200—distance from Astoria to Cape Horn 8264 miles Coming up to the northward, the same steady rate of progress was made, the line being reached on the 81st day out, the ship having sailed 12,304 miles In the week before the line was crossed 1314 miles were sailed From the equator to Falmouth the distance sailed by the ship was 4178 miles, and the time occupied 31 days. The best week's work was 1328 miles. The whole length of the homeward journey was 16,48[illegible] miles, time 110 days, average daily rate 150 miles, or 6[illegible] knots throughout the passage. This remarkable rate was due solely to steady, consistent progress. On the previous voyage from the River Platte to Australia some remarkable sailing was accomplished by the Selene During fourteen days she sailed 3703 miles, her runs being 320, 296, 280, 232, 21[illegible], 297, 326, 280, 216, 2[illegible]6, 28[illegible], 222, 249 and 244 miles. The vessel was then in ballast.

SALEM NOTES.

SALEM, Aug 17

Mrs Judge Bowie has gone to San Francisco

Cole's circus is billed for this city on the 21 of September

Mrs Dr W H Byrd is lying very ill at her home on Summer street.

Mrs. John G. Wright has returned from a month's visit to her son, Dr George Wright, at Prineville

Hugh Thompson, lately of Portland, where he has been attending business college, has returned to his home in this city

Among those who have recently gone to the [illegible] may be mentioned, Mrs. I H Moores, Miss Elgin, Mrs E Strong, T B Wait, P H D'Arcy and E. O Norton

All parties have been denied admission to Miss Mattie Allison even the enterprising reporter who wanted to interview her Her mother, who accompanied her, is stopping at the Monroe house

Maj Bice and wife, of Denver, Colorado are in the city visiting the family of Dr Wartiner of whom they are relatives The major and wife are on their way home from the G. A R reunion at San Francisco

Yesterday John Wesley, a laborer on Dr Reynolds's farm four miles south of Salem, received a kick from a horse he was driving and sustained a compound fracture of the arm There must be something the matter with the horses of this country

Nothing further has been heard from Maj I J Hodgkin since his accident in San Francisco It is expected, however, that he will arrive home by the next steamer which sails from San Francisco to Yaquina bay, and that he will be in Salem by the 20th

Hon Lehman Ford of this city, has returned from his maiden trip to California. Besides attending the G A R reunion at San Francisco, Mr Ford visited Sacramento, Santa Rosa, San Jose, and various other points of interest. He returns highly pleased with his trip

YAMHILL NOTES

MCMINNVILLE, Aug 17

Miss Jessie Young went to Portland yesterday to visit relatives

Mr G. L Manning of Seattle is visiting at his brother Sam's here

Leslie Laughlin and Thomas Rogers went to Yaquina to-day to rusticate

Yamhill county never had a better harvest time, and seldom if ever a better yield

There are nine horses in training at the fair grounds for the races at the coming county fair

H W Gortner, who has been with A. J Apperson for some time, goes to Amity soon in the service of Lansfield & Son

A narrow gauge locomotive spark set fire to the stubble in A M Yaddell's wheat field, near White's station The threshers happened to be near by and put it out

Prof McConnell begins another writing school here to-day The size of his classes and his success seems to be satisfactory He is as good a teacher as we have had here.

The constant cluck-cluck of the heavily-loaded wheat wagons is heard as they file up to the warehouses in a continuous stream with their golden burdens of as fine wheat as ever found its way to any of the granaries of this green earth

The fire bell was cracked this forenoon in sounding an alarm, and will have to be replaced by a new one The alarm was caused by a kettle of pitch boiling over and catching fire in Henderson Bros's livery stable yard no further damage

BROWNSVILLE NOTES

BROWNSVILLE, Aug 17

Rumor says the new tailor shop at the woolen mills will close this week

Mrs M E Willson departed last week for a ten days trip to Yaquina bay.

Lots of wheat coming to the warehouse here, and the farmers generally are going to stand by the narrow gauge road this fall.

Mr James Keeney has lately purchased the flouring mill of R. Findley, near Crawfordsville, and is having the same thoroughly overhauled and repaired

Harvesting is nearly finished in this section and grain has turned out light Mr [illegible] near here, had a small field of spring [illegible] that went nearly thirty bushels per acre [illegible] cases yielded a little over sixty.

At last this city is to have a newspaper Mr J H Stine, of Grant's Pass, has made arrangements to publish a paper here—will have the first issue out early next month. The new paper will be a seven column folio weekly, published at reasonable rates, and be devoted to home news and interests, and will doubtless have a large circulation in the southern part of this county.

OREGON

The debt of Jackson county is about $20,000.

Steps are being taken to organize a county fair association in Jackson county.

A new school house is to be completed at Linkville by October 15, at a cost of $15[illegible]0

Wells, Fargo & Co have discontinued their express service between Ashland and Linkville.

Miss Laura Weisley, of Jackson county, was taken to the State insane asylum last week Her insanity is the result of a long illness and it is thought that proper treatment in that institution will restore her

A Chinaman confined in the Grant county jail, committed suicide last week by hanging himself He left a letter, stating that he was born of respectable parents, and was not used to being confined in prison, and preferred to die

Jacksonville Times Hunters report bucks scarcer than ever this season A few years more of criminal slaughter of deer for the hides alone will well nigh exterminate the "antlered game" in Southern Oregon

John Randall, of the Cove, Union county, was last week at the instance of a man by the name of Jennings, brought before Judge Goodall, on a charge of adultery with Jennings' wife Randall waived examination and was bound over to await the action of the grand jury

District Attorney Colvig, of the Southern district, failed to qualify in the time prescribed by law, hence T B. Kent, his predecessor, has commenced proceedings to oust him from office, alleging that he holds over by virtue of the negligence of his successor The case will be tried at the October term of court in Jacksonville

William Borgman, an old and respected citizen of Josephine, living near Kerbyville, was found dead in his field last week, having died suddenly while at work presumably of heart disease He leaves a family and a large circle of friends to mourn his loss He was buried by Kerbyville lodge of Odd Fellows the following day

Union Scout Mr Carroll, chairman of the road commissioners, of this end of the Pine creek road informs us that work has been suspended although the road is not finished as completely as he intended to finish it and in several places it could be improved Willis Skiff, the treasurer of the commissioners had $180 of said money in his possession when he disappeared That money with as much more would have made a magnificent road from here to Goose creek.

BURNING OF EAGLE CREEK BRIDGE

Union Scout Last Sunday the new bridge crossing Eagle creek, on the road from this city to Pine creek, was totally destroyed by fire From parties who arrived on the spot while the bridge was still on fire, we learn that it caught from forest fires, which were burning in close proximity This, we believe, is the general impression although some who have come over the road since seem to think it was the work of an incendiary It was a splendid structure, costing almost $1 00[illegible], and a much better bridge than is actually needed at that place A new bridge sufficient for all purposes can probably be put in for three or four hundred dollars The commissioners had a conference here last Wednesday, to take steps towards putting up a new bridge, and doubtless it will be done without delay Travel over that road is not impeded, although it is rather rough fording at that place now

WASHINGTON TERRITORY

Another round up of the government cattle on the Yakima reservation is to be made immediately The last round up which was made this spring showed an aggregate of about 2[illegible]00 head

The Indian farmers of the Yakima reservation will have this year in addition to a sufficiency of grain for their own needs a surplusage of between seven and eight thousand bushels for the market

Sorghum cane grows to perfection in the upper Natchez, Yakima county, in fact it is so thrifty that on the farm of Mr Dan Sinclair there has been two volunteer crops from cane that was planted under two years ago, and the second volunteer is as strong and thick as could be desired Last year Mr Thos. Sinclair made 400 gallons of syrup and expects to increase it to 600 gallons this year

Catarrhal Dangers.
To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down, to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed, to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache, to know that no poisonous putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell taste and hearing, to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure
SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing safe, economical and never failing.
SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT and one IMPROVED INHALER all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions and sold by all druggists for $1 00

ANALYZING THE BAKING POWDERS

"Royal" the Only Absolutely Pure Baking Powder Made—Action of the New York State Board of Health.

Under the direction of the New York State Board of Health, eighty four different kinds of baking powders, embracing all the brands that could be found for sale in the State, were submitted to examination and analysis by Prof C F CHANDLER, a member of the State Board and President of the New York City Board of Health, assisted by Prof Edward G Love, the well known late United States Government Chemist

The other report shows that a large number of the powders examined were found to contain alum or lime, many of them to such an extent as to render them seriously objectionable for use in the preparation of human food

Alum was found in twenty nine samples This drug is employed in baking powders to cheapen their cost The presence of lime is attributed to the impure cream of tartar of commerce used in their manufacture Such cream of tartar was also analyzed and found to contain lime and other impurities, in some samples to the extent of 93 per cent of their entire weight

All the baking powders of the market with the single exception of the "Royal" (not including the alum and phosphate powders, which were long since discarded as unfit for use by efficient by prudent housekeepers) are made from the impure cream of tartar of commerce, and consequently contain lime to a corresponding extent

The only baking powder yet found by chemical analysis to be entirely free from lime and absolutely pure is the "Royal" This perfect purity results from the exclusive use of cream of tartar specially refined and prepared by patent processes, which totally remove the tartrate of lime and other impurities The cost of this chemically pure cream of tartar is much greater than any other, and on account of this greater cost, is used by no baking powder but the "Royal"

Prof Love, who made the analyses of the baking powders for the New York State Board of Health, as well as for the Government, says of the purity and wholesomeness of "Royal"

"I have tested a package of 'Royal Baking Powder,' which I purchased in the open market, and find it composed of pure and wholesome ingredients It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of merit, and does not contain either alum or phosphates or any injurious substances E. G. LOVE, Ph D
